VMMS & North County Solutions for Change benefit from R.J. Donovan State Correctional Facility donation

Two organizations recently received donations through the collaboration efforts of Patti Colston, Community Partnership Manager and George A. Neotti, Warden of R.J. Donovan Correctional Facility, and Jose Manuel Villarreal, Principal of Vista Magnet Middle School.

Donovan Correctional Facility donated to Vista Magnet Middle School 2 pallets of books that will be used for future community service projects. The books range from elementary math and language arts books to history. This donation will further our vision of having ALL students contribute back to their community through various service learning opportunities.

Donovan Correctional Facility and Vista Magnet also were able to collaborate with North County Solutions for Change to receive 100 bunk beds and lockers to serve the local community. Vista Magnet has been working with Antonea Peterson, Community Outreach Coordinator for North County Solutions for Change for the last several years in the form of can food drives for our local community.

The entire VMMS community is proud of such outreach that has occurred resulted in a strong relation between R.J. Donovan Correctional Facility and North County Solutions for Change
