VMMS 8th grade Rubik's Cube Team wins at San Diego Science Festival 2010

VISTA, Calif. – VMMS wins the 2010 San Diego Science Festival, Rubik's Cube competition at Petco Park on March 27, 2010 and earned $1000. This year, the San Diego Science Festival hosted a speed tournament with You CAN do the Rubik's Cube. Over 800 kids participated and the finalists competed on stage at EXPO DAY. The VMMS winning middle school team, led by teachers Claudia Brown, Jamie Hagen-Holt and Sarah Gwilt, is comprised of eight graders: Vincent Garcia, Reymundo Guandulain, Marek Pokorny, Zachary Vampola, Dylan Sudy, Aiji Treadwell, William Muhlestein and Colin Woodford.

San Diego Science Festival is now in its second year, once again made science accessible, fun and inspirational for San Diego's youth and their families. The University of California, San Diego, organized the weeklong celebration of science, which culminated in the one-day EXPO DAY, in collaboration with more than 120 leading science and community organizations. Over 75,000 people participated in more than 25 science-inspired events, generously supported by Platinum Sponsor Life Technologies, throughout the week of March 20-27, 2010.
